Remembering Sept. 11th, 2001 . . .

By: Rep. Mike Denham

On Thursday this week, our nation will pause to remember those whose lives were lost on Sept. 11, 2001.

If you are old enough to recall exactly where you were and what you were doing when you first heard the news, it can seem difficult to believe that 13 years have passed.

As a nation, only a few events in our modern history stand as tall in our collective memory. They include the end of World War II, President Kennedy’s assassination and Neil Armstrong’s walking on the moon.

Although New York, Pennsylvania, and Washington, D.C., were understandably the hardest hit that morning, no state was untouched. For Kentucky, one of the victims on the flight that struck the World Trade Center’s South Tower had lived in Louisville for a time, and one of those killed in the Pentagon was a native of Rowan County.

In the plane that hit the Pentagon, meanwhile, was the son-in-law of a woman who worked for the General Assembly for several years.

Kentucky also has a direct connection to the immediate aftermath at Ground Zero. The flag that three firefighters raised just hours after the Twin Towers fell, and which is commemorated in a now-iconic photo, came from our state. The firefighters retrieved it from a nearby boat that had previously been owned by someone who had bought the flag from a Barren County salesman.

Historically, many may not realize that Ground Zero is just a few hundred yards from where George Washington was sworn in as the United States’ first president and where the Constitution’s Bill of Rights was introduced. That means a short walk connects one of our country’s most tragic events with one of our most enduring victories.

September 11th itself is the anniversary of other important events for our country. On that day in 1609, for example, the explorer Henry Hudson first sailed his ship by Manhattan, later home to the World Trade Center; and in 1941, that day marked the beginning of construction on the Pentagon.

9/11 may first be a time of solemn remembrance, but it also represents the heroism we learned about in the days that followed. Those stories include the firefighters and other first responders who gave their lives in the Twin Towers trying to save others, and it includes the passengers in the flight over Pennsylvania who fought back with the rallying cry of “Let’s roll.”

In the years since that tragic day, we have also had hundreds of thousands of brave men and women serve our nation in such places as Iraq and Afghanistan. Our state understands the sacrifice this has required all too well and the need to always be prepared.

As we come together this Thursday to remember and to reflect, it is well worth noting that our strength as a nation has never wavered over the last 13 years, and it will not waver in the years to come.

That, perhaps as much as anything, is the most fitting tribute of all.

Jett competes on “American Grilled”

Results of the show filmed in June will air on Wed., Sept. 17th at 9 p.m. on the Travel Channel. A viewing party will be held in Staci’s honor at the Augusta Pub on Wednesday, Sept. 17th beginning at 7 p.m.

Staci is the single mother of two children, Gavin and Sierra, and the daughter of Patricia and the late Scotty Graves. She currently works as the meat manager at Lee’s IGA in Brooksville.

This Saturday, September 13th, Swingtime on the River will be held in Augusta. The “Swingtime Big Band”, an eighteen-piece orchestra from Northern Kentucky will take center stage from 6:30 - 9:30 p.m. to provide an evening of entertainment for all to enjoy. The event is free and open to the public so bring your lawn chairs and blankets and sit along the river at the Riverwalk. Dancing is also enjoyed and encouraged by many throughout the evening.

Contact Doug or Lacey at 606-756-2183 for availability of table reservations. Food and drinks will be available for sale beginning at 5:30 p.m. and during the performance.

“Relay For Life” Rally to be held this Friday evening

The American Cancer Society Relay For Life® of Bracken County is excited to invite local volunteers – walkers, cancer survivors, caregivers, teams, community leaders, anyone wanting to make a difference – to attend the annual event, which will take place this Friday, September 12 from 5:30 p.m. until 5:30 a.m. at the Augusta River Park and Boat Dock!

“We want Bracken County to know that you can have fun by celebrating our survivors, but also come together for a meaningful ceremony to fight back against this disease that affects us all,” said

Pam Hopkins, Event Co-Chair and ACS Volunteer. Pam and the Relay For Life committee are very excited and eager to attend this year’s event, which is themed, “Decades of Hope!”

Relay For Life events are held overnight as individuals and teams camp out at an athletic track, park or other gathering area, with the goal of keeping at least one team member on the track or pathway at all times throughout the evening. Teams do most of their fundraising prior to the event, but some teams also hold creative fundraisers at their camp sites during Relay. Relay brings together friends, families, businesses, hospitals, schools, faith-based groups . . . people from all walks of life – all aimed at celebrating the lives of those who have had cancer, remembering those lost, and fighting back against the disease.

“Relay For Life is all about the Bracken County community uniting with the American Cancer Society and supporting its efforts to create a world with less cancer and more birthdays,” said Alissa Belna, ACS Relay For Life Specialist. “Volunteers and participants who are willing to give their time and energy to this exciting event are making a commitment to let Bracken County community members know that cancer can be defeated.”

Bracken Creek Horse Trails officially open

The “Grand Opening” for the Bracken County Industrial and Recreation Park was held on Saturday, September 6th. One hundred and twenty people enjoyed a meal served by ladies of the community. The attendees included 39 horses and riders in 14 horse trailers, fishermen at both lakes, and several interested community members. The horseback riders praised the 20 miles of Bracken Creek Trails and the scenic beauty of the Park. State Representative Mike Denham and Bracken County Judge Executive Earl Bush spoke to the crowd praising the late Tom Stephenson as being instrumental in getting this Park started. The trails are located at 617 East Gillespie Road, just off the AA Highway at Augusta, and more information on the trails can be found on their Facebook page “Bracken County Industrial & Recreation Park”.

From The Bracken Record

June 28, 1876 - When General Lee heard of Stone-wall Jackson's wound, he said, "He is better off than I am! He has lost his left arm, but I have lost my right one." [Pollard]

July 5, 1876 - The new centennial post age stamp has made its appearance. It is green in color and bell shaped, with the words and figures "U. S. Postage, 1776" at the top, and a post rider underneath galloping at full speed. The lower half of the stamp represents the electric telegraph and a train of cars, and underneath are the words "Three Cents, 1876." The government will furnish postmasters with the centennial stamp for sale.

July 12, 1876 - Fashion Notes - Leather belts are re-vised this season. Pippings are a favorite trimming at pres-ent. Traveling gloves are of undressed kid or lisle thread. Short dresses are recommend-ed for Centennial visits. Ev-erything is use for the neck is in cream color or ecru. Linen collars and cuffs in ecru shade are very fashionable. Blue petticoats are said to be the lat-est agony in New York. Scarfs (sic) for the neck and also for hats are of netted silk in any color. Basques still continue to be worn, but in order to be stylish must be fitted closely to the figure without a plat or pucker.

Traveling hats for the summer will be trimmed with colored veiling wound around the hat with two long stream-ers in the back to bring for-ward and tie in front. Jabots are rather more dressy than neckties—unless they be very rich lace—and can be made up of little bits of lace and silk to be quite distinguished in appearance. Dresses of two materials or colors have their pockets made of one stuff, and the basques of another, the pockets being simply a continuation of the gore under the arm of the basque. Wood carving seems to be the fash-ion with ladies in and around Cincinnati, as a large number of very fine specimens on ex-hibition at the Women's Pavil-ion in the Centennial are from that city.

Thoughts and Meditations from the Scriptures

YES OR NO?

Sometimes the shortest and oldest words are the ones requiring the most thought. We all know the meaning of "yes" and "no," but do we understand the power we can wield by using them, and do we fathom the depth to which they can penetrate our lives? Do you instinctively say yes to life, or are you a naysayer who denounces everything? Yes is the eternal affirmation, the cosmic optimism. No is the eternal negation and cosmic pessimism. Let's face it: life is a mixed bag. There is plenty of both good and bad, and good and evil in the world. But the power of yes is stronger than the power of no. Love will win out over hate. So, we should be on the side of yes. —Christopher Simon

For the Son of God, Jesus Christ, whom we proclaimed among you, Silvanus and Timothy and I, was not Yes and No, but in him it is always Yes. For all the promises of God find their Yes in him. That is why it is through him that we utter our Amen to God for his glory. - 2 Corinthians 1:19-20

GREETINGS FROM ST. JAMES

by Caroline Jefferson

Because of the early deadline for last week's paper, we did not have the weekly $100 winner from the Major Raffle of the Ice Cream Social. So Mr. Nate Manzo was the August 31st $100 winner and this past Sunday, September 7, Msgr. Dominic drew the name of Sara Sticklen as the happy winner! Congratulations to these two winners and continued good luck to the rest of our participants! I remind all parishioners to continue saving aluminum cans to help fund this portion of our social.

St. James Classes of Religious Education began this past Sunday and all our students from Kindergarten thru Eighth Grade need to be enrolled. The 7th and 8th grade students will be receiving the Sacrament of Confirmation on April 29, 2015 and the 2nd graders will be receiving their First Holy Communion on May 3, 2015. It is most important that these students attend each class and ask the parents to be most attentive to this.

If anyone is interested in joining the Catholic Faith or wants to learn more about this religion, RCIA classes will begin on Sept. 14. Please contact Msgr. Dominic or Ms. Debbie for more information.

Student Missionary Clayton Brooks to speak at Willow Baptist Church, Sunday, September 21

Clayton Brooks, Baptist student missionary to the Philippines and to Kenya, Africa, will share his missionary experiences during the morning worship hour at Willow Baptist Church on Sunday, September 21, at 11 a.m.

Clayton is a junior at Campbellsville University where he is majoring in music with an emphasis in Worship Arts and a minor in business administration. Working through the International Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, Clayton spent the summer of 2013 as a member of the "Impact Cebu" team along with six other college-age men and four Philippino translators in Cebu, Philippines. The group, as part of the Nehemiah teams of the IMB, moved from village to village, where they survived on their own for eight weeks—cooking on open fires and traveling on foot in extreme temperatures and jungle-like terrain. They used basketball as an outreach tool to share the Gospel with the Philipinos.

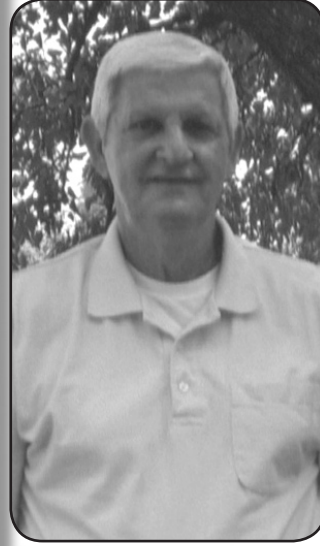

This past summer in 2014, Clayton traveled to Tigrioni, Kenya, Africa where he served with Kevin and Sheryl Hoke for five weeks as an intern missionary. Tigrioni is located about one hour north of Nairobi, Africa. The Hokes serve and live on the campus of Kenya Baptist Theological Seminary in Tigrioni. Clayton worked with the Hokes in their ministry in the high schools, the nursery schools, orphanages, and on the campus of the college. Clayton also had an opportunity to teach at a pastors' conference and to work with the youth.

Please join us on Sunday, September 21 at 11 a.m. as Clayton shares his missionary experiences in two very different countries. Clayton is the son of Mike and Debbie Brooks of Bardstown, and the grandson of Jack and Eunice Brooks of Maysville. Following the morning worship service, the church will host a potluck dinner for all those attending. Bring a friend and join us to hear the exciting spiritual experiences of this young man.

Thank You

The family of Donnie Case would like to thank everyone for their cards, food, flowers, donations and prayers, and a special thank you to great neighbors during his short illness and passing. Thanks to Kevin Barnard and Moore & Parker for the beautiful service.

BROOKSVILLE UNITED METHODIST HAPPENINGS by Laural Jane Gray

"Let our worship of God be reflected in our lives of hope and peace". A wonderful way to call our worship service to order. Pastor Elizabeth Smith's sermon came from Exodus 12:1-14. It was titled "Celebratory Meals" and reminded us why we take communion and what it means.

The BIG happening coming up for our church is the young people's first meeting Sept. 21 at 5-7 p.m. It will include dinner for those J Club members who come out. Other happenings include the Outreach Com. Meeting Sept. 8 at 6:30; the Men's meeting Sept. 15 at 6:30 at Brooksville Christian Church; the Administrative Board meeting following church on Sept. 21; the Covington District UMW Annual meeting Sept. 27 at 9:00 at Florence UMC; FRANS day Sept. 28 with special music by Satisfied and a fellowship lunch to follow.

We offer prayer for those who are sick or suffering in any way, those who have lost loved ones, our community, our fellow churches, our country and our world.

Sister Elizabeth and all members invite everyone to join us for Sunday School at 9:45, Worship services at 10:45; Wed. night Bible Study at 6:30 and Fri. night Back to Basics at 6:30. Come join us at the little white church on the corner.

PRESBYTERIAN POTPOURRI by Les Grooms, pastor Augusta Presbyterian

We started off Sunday morning with our adult Sunday School class based on Ephesians 12:11-22. We had a spirited discussion based on this passage. I decided that the book of Ephesians was so meaningful that I based my sermon Sunday on Ephesians.

We had 49 present for worship and since Earl Bush was not present, I took his place and took care of the liturgical part of the worship service. Susie Hargett led the singing as well as singing during the time of serving communion. Jim and Cora Morris served the communion elements and we had no children's church because this was communion Sunday.

We had soup supper last Monday (Labor Day) and we missed some of our regulars. We had a nice crowd that gathered to share in the common meal.

Wednesday we will have our monthly Bread Basket meal featuring grilled meats, salads, vegetables, and as always, wonderful desserts. We plan to have grilled meats during the October meals and then after that, we will have more traditional meals. If you know someone who is in need of a meal, stop by and fill up a take-out plate and take it to them.

I will be gone from the pulpit on Sept. 14 and Roger Cheesbro will be filling the pulpit for me. We are going to Milwaukee to see the Reds play and the next day we are traveling to Chicago to see them play again.

Mandela photographer visits Bracken County Underground Railroad sites

On Monday, August 25, Richard Cooper, a representative from the Freedom Center in Cincinnati, brought Mathew Willman, a lifelong resident of South Africa, to Bracken County to look at Underground Railroad sites and routes in Germantown, Asbury Road, and Augusta.

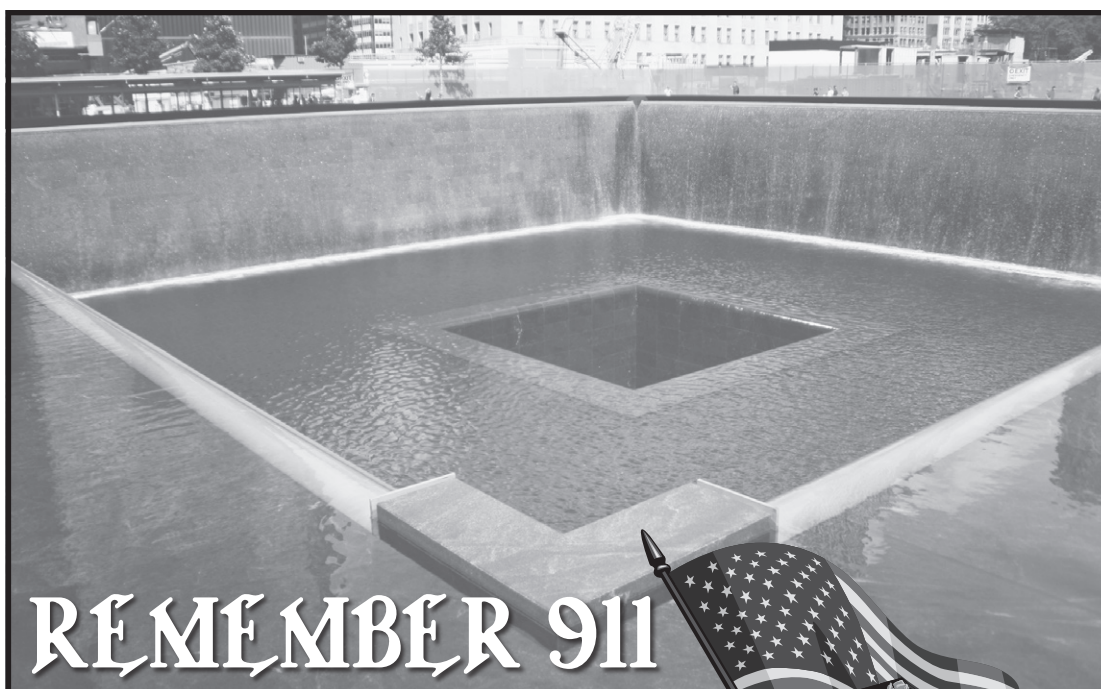

Willman, pictured at right, served ten years as the personal photographer of Nelson Mandela and his foundation. He is currently employed by the Mandela Foundation to complete a photo-documentary about the struggles of living under apartheid rules and those efforts which led to the civil rights movement in South Africa.

Proctor and Gamble of Cincinnati recently contacted Willman and solicited him to draw comparisons of the American experience of the Underground Railroad and peoples' struggles for freedom and equality and those for political and economic freedom in Africa. In particular, Willman was able to listen to the life story of Rev.

John G. Fee of Germantown, who was the founder of Berea College and Kentucky's most ardent abolitionist.

In addition to being guided by a historian from the Bracken County Historical Society, Willman was able to speak in length with Nick Clooney of Augusta. Clooney and his son, George, traveled to Darfur in central Africa a few years ago on a fact-finding mission concerning the atrocities occurring in that nation and others. According to Nick, George has returned to this nation several times since 2006 to complete his documentation on the safety and living conditions of the residents of Darfur.

Historical Society History Exhibit well received

The Augusta Rotary Club and the Bracken County Historical Society sponsored a temporary museum in the Augusta Chapel on Parkview Street last Saturday afternoon during the annual Heritage Days.

Several local men displayed artifacts from former Native American settlements and hunting areas. Kentucky long rifles, which were made in Augusta by Michael and Benjamin Sells, were also exhibited. Sixteen tables were filled with memorabilia from Augusta's past: veteran items, 19th century paintings, turn of the 20th century post cards and letters, as well as early 1800 items which remain in Bracken County homes.

Of particular interest was a presentation of letters, albums, telegrams, and newspapers related to Wilma Dale Lytle's crash landing in World War II. Sue Lonaker of Oakland, Lytle's niece, graciously allowed these never-before-displayed items to be seen and studied. Lytle was missing-in-action for nearly five months in Nazi infiltrated Albania (north of Greece) before being led to freedom over the Alp Mountains.

Ironically, in her school "Memories" book was a brief poem by a schoolmate Ruth Jett:

*When you get older and cross the ocean wide
And climb a mountain on the back of a mule
Remember me at Butler school.*

In 1943, all of these predictions came true for Dale Lytle, including riding a mule during her escape to the Albanian coast. If you want to read more about Lytle's harrowing crash landing and her experiences as a MIA, the Society has a small, inexpensive booklet for sale about her life's story. Just call 606-735-3337 and leave a message and someone will get back to you.

All who exhibited are appreciated for giving local residents and visitors a glimpse of Augusta's past.

AIS Science Students: Striving for ExCELLence

The school year is off to a great start for science students at Augusta Independent Schools. One of the most notable accomplishments this year comes from the 7th grade science class. Students were required over the course of several weeks to create their own "Cell City". The project required students to make an analogy between the parts of the cell and the parts of an actual city. Using models or drawings, students demonstrated a great deal of creativity, knowledge, and understanding. From hydraulic dams representing the energy generated by mitochondria, to town halls and city centers built entirely from LEGOs that represented the nucleus, each project was successful and showed a great deal of student commitment.

The projects are one of many activities designed to adhere to the Next Generation Science Standards (NGSS), which replaced the state's old standards. Beginning this year, all schools in the state of Kentucky were required to base their science lessons around these new standards. The standards are structured to help students engage in scientific practices on a regular basis, allowing students the opportunity to put themselves in the driver's seat and gain a deeper understanding of what it means to "do" science.

This is one of many projects to come. Along with the new standards, Augusta Independent Schools was the recipient of a $2,000 grant courtesy of the R.C. Durr Foundation, which allowed the school to purchase new STEM-based equipment. This equipment, in addition to the reasoning skills gained from the new standards, will allow students to be better prepared for careers in the 21st century. We look forward to a great school year and want to congratulate all science students at AIS!

Achieve adequate amounts of vitamin D

Submitted by: Shannon Smith, CEA for FCS

Vitamin D has gotten a lot of media coverage lately as various studies have tied normal levels of vitamin D to certain health benefits and lack of the vitamin to certain diseases. While many of these current studies provide conflicting messages, it is generally understood that vitamin D is needed for optimal health. It helps us absorb calcium and phosphorus, so we can have strong bones and teeth. The vitamin also regulates the amount of calcium in our blood, helps strengthen our immune system and helps regulate cell growth. It also decreases the risk of falls in older adults by as much as 20 percent. A lack of vitamin D can cause your bones to soften and increases your risk of bone fractures.

Our exposed skin produces vitamin D from sun exposure. Our bodies do not need a lot of sun exposure to help us reach our recommended daily amount. About 15 minutes in the sun three times a week is enough.

Individuals who have certain skin diseases may not be able to get adequate amounts of vitamin D, as they need to limit their skin's exposure to the sun. People with dark skin, older adults and overweight individuals may not be able to produce adequate amounts of vitamin D with sun exposure alone. Winter sunlight is also not strong enough for any of us to get adequate amounts of vitamin D. We can get our daily-recommended amount of vitamin D by adding foods to our diets that naturally contain vitamin D or are fortified with the vitamin.

Fatty fish such as salmon, cod and tuna naturally contain high levels of vitamin D. The vitamin is also found in egg yolks in smaller quantities. Foods fortified with vitamin D include most milk, some orange juices, yogurt, cheese, cereal, bread and soy drinks. A reference to vitamin D is usually only found on food labels of fortified foods.

Vitamin D supplements are also available for those deficient in the vitamin. Check with your doctor before adding any kind of supplement to your diet.

WORLD-CLASS EYE INFECTION

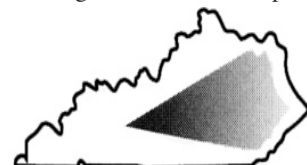

If you wondered what was wrong with Bob Costas' eyes during the Sochi 2014 Winter Olympics, the sports announcer was forced by a common eye infection to miss nearly half of the event. "Conjunctivitis," also popularly referred to as "pink eye," is a highly contagious infection that is commonly seen among school children. It is caused by bacteria or a virus that inflames the thin membrane (conjunctiva) that lines the eyeball and inner eyelid. The conjunctiva becomes red and swollen, and there is often a discharge from the eye as well as the experience of blurred vision, a gritty sensation, and/or light sensitivity. Viral conjunctivitis, the most common type, usually clears up on its own in about a week.

This informative and interesting column about pink eye has been brought to you as a public service. At KENTUCKY EYE INSTITUTE, located at 1937 Old Main St., Suite 1, Old Washington, we have the personnel and the most modern ophthalmic instruments to give you the most up-to-date eye care. Please call 606.759.7883 or 800.658.7282 to schedule an appointment. We are committed to excellence and providing you the best eye health care possible. We specialize in "EYE CARE FOR ALL AGES."

P.S. While bacterial conjunctivitis is more serious than viral conjunctivitis and may require Medical treatment, allergic conjunctivitis is caused by pollen or another airborne irritant and does not resolve until the source is eliminated.

Howdy Folks! Thirteen years ago this Thursday the United States suffered its worst tragedy in modern history as a result of terrorists high jacking four planes. Two jets crashed into the Twin Towers of the World Trade Center, one into the Pentagon and one near Pittsburgh. So many words have been written about this horrific incident and so many lives were forever changed on that beautiful Tuesday morning. Americans came together as never before to stand in line to give blood to aid the victims, and churches across the nation were filled as never before! Skin color, social and economic status did not matter. We were all Americans and the terrorists had affected every man, woman and child in the country! How sad that those patriotic feelings, sentiments and actions faded so quickly!

September 11 has been designated as Patriot Day to remember those killed and injured during the worst foreign attack on American soil. Many people observe a moment of silence at 8:46 AM which is the time the first plane hit the North Tower. The American flag should be flown at half-staff in honor of all the victims including the many military and emergency personnel, plus all the survivors and their families. To date, 2,999 deaths have been directly related to the 911 attacks and many hundreds of survivors and first responders have since been diagnosed with cancer and other health problems that are due to their involvement. How wonderful it would be if we could all recall the emotions that overwhelmed us on 911 and use them as an incentive to positively affect today's world! (A footnote to this is that Patriot Day should not be confused with Patriot's Day or Patriots' Day which is observed on the third Monday in April to remember and honor those killed in the battles of Lexington and Concord during the Revolutionary War in 1775.)

There may be a lot wrong with this world, but there are a lot of good people willing to sacrifice and do what they can through prayers and action to turn all the negatives into positives! As a community we have the ability to worship in any one of the many churches of our choice and those prayers will not go unanswered! We will be given the grace and ability to change our own little corner of the world and one very helpful way is to become a recycler! It takes maybe a week to form the good habit of recycling paper, aluminum and metal cans, glass, cardboard and the No. 1 & 2 plastics that are accepted at the Mason County Recycling Center. This small change in each and every home and business will save and preserve the natural resources that would be used to make new items. The recycling trailers are filled one sack at a time and the more folks re-

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Had to write because our right to choose whether or not to take a drug recommended by a doctor has been taken away in some offices.

Upon not taking a statin drug that was recommended a few times by a doctor, my husband was sent a letter telling him he was being non-compliant and would have to find another doctor!! I would think the doctor could have just noted in his chart that it was recommended but declined by the patient.

We had received a lot of negative information from an alternative health newsletter warning of the serious dangers associated with statin drugs and how unnecessary they really are except for a very few.

Isn't it a patient's right to decide what they think is in their best interests without being accused of being non-compliant and forced to find help elsewhere?

The property shall be sold to the highest and best bidder(s) and said purchaser shall be required to pay cash or the sum of ten percent (10%) of the bid price in cash deposit with the balance of the purchase price to be due and payable in cash or certified funds, within thirty (30) days from the date of sale. Livestock Producers Urged to Enroll in Disaster Assistance Program by Oct. 1
The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) is encouraging producers who have suffered eligible disaster-related losses to act to secure assistance by Sept. 30, 2014, as congressionally mandated payment reductions will take place for producers who have not acted before that date. Livestock producers that have experienced grazing losses since October 2011 and may be eligible for benefits but have not yet contacted their local Farm Service Agency (FSA) office should do so as soon as possible.

The Budget Control Act passed by Congress in 2011 requires USDA to implement reductions of 7.3 percent to the Livestock Forage Disaster Program (LFP) in the new fiscal year, which begins Oct. 1, 2014. However, producers seeking LFP support who have scheduled appointments with their local FSA office before Oct. 1, even if the appointment occurs after Oct. 1, will not see reductions in the amount of disaster relief they receive.

USDA is encouraging producers to register, request an appointment or begin a Livestock Forage Disaster Program application with their county FSA office before Oct. 1, 2014, to lock in the current zero percent sequestration rate. As an additional aid to qualified producers applying for LFP, the Farm Service's Agency has developed an online registration that enables farmers and ranchers to put their names on an electronic list before the deadline to avoid reductions in their disaster assistance. This is an alternative to visiting or contacting the county office.

To place a name on the Livestock Forage Disaster Program list online, visit <http://www.fsa.usda.gov/disaster-register>.

Producers who already contacted the county office and have an appointment scheduled need do nothing more.

"In just four months since disaster assistance enrollments began, we've processed 240,000 applications to help farmers and ranchers who suffered losses," said Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack. "Eligible producers who have not yet contacted their local FSA office should stop by or call their local FSA office, or sign up online before Oct. 1 when congressionally mandated payment reductions take effect. This will ensure they receive as much financial assistance as possible."

The Livestock Indemnity Program, the Tree Assistance Program and the Noninsured Disaster Assistance Program Frost Freeze payments will also be cut by 7.3 percent on Oct. 1, 2014. Unlike the Livestock Forage Disaster Program, applications for these programs must be fully completed by Sept. 30. FSA offices will prioritize these applications, but as the full application process can take several days or more to complete, producers are encouraged to begin the application process as soon as possible.

The Livestock Forage Disaster Program compensates eligible live-stock producers who suffered grazing losses due to drought or fire between Oct. 1, 2011 and Dec. 31, 2014. Eligible livestock includes alpacas, beef cattle, buffalo, beefalo, dairy cattle, deer, elk, emus, equine, goats, llamas, poultry, reindeer, sheep or swine that have been or would have been grazing the eligible grazing land or pastureland. Producers forced to liquidate their livestock may also be eligible for program benefits. Additionally, the 2014 Farm Bill eliminated the risk management purchase requirement. Livestock producers are no longer required to purchase coverage under the federal crop insurance program or Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program to be eligible for Livestock Forage Disaster Program assistance.

To learn more about USDA disaster relief programs, producers can review the 2014 Farm Bill fact sheet at www.fsa.usda.gov/farmbill or the LFP program fact sheet at <http://go.usa.gov/5JTB>, or contact their local FSA office.

The Livestock Forage Disaster Program was made possible through the 2014 Farm Bill, which builds on historic economic gains in rural America over the past five years, while achieving meaningful reform and billions of dollars in savings for the taxpayer. Since enactment, USDA has made significant progress to implement each provision of this critical legislation, including providing disaster relief to farmers and ranchers; strengthening risk management tools; expanding access to rural credit; funding critical research; establishing innovative public-private conservation partnerships; developing new markets for rural-made products; and investing in infrastructure, housing and community facilities to help improve quality of life in rural America. Augusta runners continue to set personal records, Snapp places 7th

In week two of the cross country season, Augusta traveled to Scott County for the Double “S” Stampede. The Panthers were up against some different competition from central Kentucky after mostly facing northern Kentucky runners in week one. They were also stepping onto the Scott County course for the first time.

In the varsity race, which consisted of 101 runners, AHS entered five athletes. Finishing the race first for the Panthers was junior Camryn Snapp, who ran a 17:41 finishing seventh overall. Freshman Rhys Todd was in next for Augusta, setting his personal record (PR) at 20:29. David Reed finished the 5K in 21:53, Jon Barrett in 24:56, and Adam Sallee in 31:22, all of whom are freshmen. The team’s sixth runner, senior Nick Zeidler, was unavailable to run. In the middle school race, Augusta’s lone MS runner, Seth Fouts, finished the 3K in 12:26, not only knocking off four minutes from his previous meet but also setting a new personal record. He finished 23rd out of 98 boys.

According to the KHSAA, Scott County is the planned host of the 2015 Class “A” Region 5 Championship, and Coach Tim Litteral indicated that was the primary reason for his team attending the regular season meet at their course this year, with the main goal of being exposed to the course. However, he saw other positives come out of the meet. “Although they were gradual, the course contained some lengthy hills, so I was expecting some slightly higher times than the Ryle meet last week, which is considered a fast course. Our middle runners like Jon and David did increase some, but again, it was kind of expected, and I was okay with those results,” Litteral stated. “It was positive to see Camryn only add a few seconds to last week’s time and run back-to-back meets sub-18:00, which he only did twice last year.”

Two runners set personal records, which Litteral was particularly pleased with. “I’m running four freshmen on the varsity team. If you throw my senior Nick into that mix, we need a couple of them to get below 20:00, and I haven’t been sure who it would be. With Rhys’s PR on Saturday, he’s only 30 seconds from getting under 20:00, and is the closest of those five to that mark. We regularly set realistic short-term goals, and without giving his exact goal, his next target is a time below the 20 minute mark,” Litteral said. “Seth really bounced backed this week as well. He had a high time for him at Ryle, so it was very encouraging to see him come out and not only get back down to where we know he can run, but also get a PR. I continue to believe that this entire team has potential that can be realized if they put forth the hard work and commitment that is required to be successful in this sport.”

To kick off week three, Augusta was scheduled to run in the Mason County All-Comers meet on Tuesday. That meet served as a warm-up for the Mason County Invitational coming up this Saturday, September 13. The boys’ varsity race is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m.; the boys’ middle school race is scheduled for 11:30 a.m.

Lady Panthers Take Runner-Up in All “A” Volleyball Tournament

Pre-season practices were spent trying to figure out how losing eight seniors would impact the Augusta Lady Panthers’ Volleyball program this season. However, to the many fans who have come to enjoy the fast paced and scrappy play that defines the Lady Panthers, the answer is very clear. The Lady Panthers of 2014 might be less experienced, but they are just as competitive and determined as the teams that have captured back to back district championships for the Augusta volleyball program. This would become clear as they faced their cross-county rival, the Bracken County Lady Bears, in the 2014 10th Region All “A” Classic tournament during the last week of August. The opening game between these two evenly matched teams would see yet another close, intense, and heated fight as both teams played their hearts out. The Lady Bears would see the first sign of success as they etched out the first set with a very exciting and close score of 25-23. However the Lady Panthers would bounce back, showing their will and determination as they would follow suit with their own victory in the second set with another “edge of your seat” battle, winning 25-23. The third and final match would show the fans many moments of hustle and determination from both teams as the two rivals battled back and forth with dives, digs, aggressive attacks and unbelievable exhibitions of character and heart. In the end there can only be one victor and that victory would fall to the Augusta Lady Panthers with a set score of 26-24. Seniors Jerica Kelsch and Paige McCord would lead the Lady Panthers with 12 and seven kills respectively. Paige McCord would see her night’s success continue to grow with five aces on the evening and eight assists. On defense, the senior trio of Kelsch, Tucker and McCord would tally in nine, nine and seven digs respectively.

In the semi-finals, the Lady Panthers would see themselves pitted against another talented opponent in the Robertson County Black Devils. In the opening match of the 2014 season, the Lady Panthers scored their first victory against Robertson in the history of the program, so facing Robertson once again in the 10th Region All “A” would be another tough challenge. The Lady Panthers would show that fighting spirit they have become known for after Robertson Co. jumped out to an early lead, but the Lady Panthers would battle back to take the first set 25-19. The Lady Panthers would take that momentum and use it to their advantage as they took the second set in decisive fashion, winning 25-10. Jerica Kelsch would help lead the Lady Panthers to their victory with ten kills and five aces. Sam Kennard helped out with her four aces and six digs while the match would see Paige McCord contribute three aces of her own along with five digs and five assists. The victory would send the Lady Panthers to the All “A” Championship game for the first time in the history of the program to face Bishop Brossart.

The Lady Panthers

fought to the end, never giving up, but the night would not go their way as Bishop Brossart would take the match and the Championship with a score of 25-18 and 25-11. Coach Machen was pleased with their performance in the tournament, pointing out that the team accomplished something that had never been done before. Their effort showed that they are still very much a competitive team in the region. He added that the team had nothing to be ashamed of and he was proud of how much determination they showed.

Seniors Jerica Kelsch and Paige McCord would also see their hard work and dedication acknowledged with their nominations to the 2014 10th Region All “A” Classic All-Tournament Team.

Archery deer, wild turkey seasons on deck

The days are growing shorter and cooler temperatures are starting to show up in extended forecasts.

The transition to fall is underway.

For Kentucky hunters, it started weeks ago with the opening of early fall squirrel season. Labor Day ushered in the start of dove season, and the onrush of hunting opportunities continues this weekend.

Archery deer and wild turkey seasons opened statewide on Sat., Sept. 6 and runs through Jan. 19, 2015.

The past two deer seasons produced new overall harvest records in Kentucky, and bowhunters helped set the pace for both. September saw record deer harvests the past three seasons.

“Given good weather conditions we’re on track for a similar season,” said Karen Waldrop, deputy commissioner with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

The deer herd remains in fine shape after a 2013-14 season that saw hunters harvest a record 144,409 animals, and conditions have been favorable for fawn survival.

“I still think if hunters want to get a deer they can get one,” said David Yancy, deer biologist with Kentucky Fish and Wildlife.

Turkeys provide another fall hunting opportunity.

A good year of poult production could mean more young turkeys available to hunters, and should lead to improved hunting next spring.

“Hopefully that increase in production will in turn help boost our fall harvest this year,” said Steven Dobey, wild turkey biologist with Kentucky Fish and Wildlife.

Two variables – the weather and the mast crop – could have big impacts.

Biologists wrapped up their annual mast survey this week and preliminary reports indicate red and white oaks will be better than last year. Hickory nut production appears spotty while American beech nut production generally seems to be poor around the state.

“It looks like we’re going to have an excellent crop of red oak acorns this year,” said Ben Robinson, small game biologist with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. “White oaks look to be good as well, but not to the level of red oaks.”

Red and white oak acorns are valued as food sources by deer, turkey and other forest animals.

If this turns out to be a good year for white oaks, key on those because deer prefer them over the bitterer red oak acorns, Yancy said. One way to distinguish a red oak from a white oak is by looking at its leaves. Red oak leaves have pointed lobes while white oaks have rounded lobes.

“You need to be doing the legwork to figure out what the deer are using,” Yancy said. “Where are the acorn-bearing oaks?”

Wild turkeys aren’t as finicky about hard mast, Dobey said, but they will concentrate around acorn-bearing oaks.

“To improve your success in the fall go out and do some preseason or in-season scouting to identify where the natural foods are,” he said. “If the turkeys are there, position yourself in the landscape to try to intersect those birds as they’re moving from roosting to feeding areas.”

Last season’s fall turkey harvest was down 39 percent, a drop attributed to extensive rainfall during major hunting timeframes. The two shotgun seasons have accounted for 77 percent of the entire fall turkey harvest over the past decade, Dobey said.

“In years where we have really abundant mast production, our deer and turkey harvests typically decline,” he said. “That’s because they don’t have to wander. When they wander, they encounter hunters. If there’s really good acorn production, head to the woods and find the food there. In doing so, hunters can increase their success in years of above average acorn production.”

For more information about the deer and fall turkey seasons, including legal equipment and bag limits, consult the 2014-15 Kentucky Hunting and Trapping Guide. It is available online at fw.ky.gov or wherever licenses are sold.

Sports in Kentucky by Bob Watkins

By four miles to Bremen, Bill Gatton is philanthropist and hero for core fans

Him who sees beyond himself, gives beyond his full measure, basks in glow of bright children, He is gathered among angels, He ... is heroic. — crw

The Man from Bremen.

Who doesn't delight in a Twain-esque climb waaay up to success life story? Particularly one about a native Kentuckian who, over 82 summer times, kept in touch with who he is?

Beginning near Bremen in Muhlenburg County, Carol Martin 'Bill' Gatton earned his way, and titles and accolades enough to impress princes and kings. A CEO here, chairman of a board there, Board of Trustees (UK), his name on front of buildings (Universities of Kentucky and East Tennessee State). And, on the Western Kentucky University campus, the Gatton Academy of Mathematics and Science opened in 2007. A veritable incubator for gifted high school juniors and seniors to finish last two years while dipping a collective toe into college life mainstream and taking college courses.

Success story titles? My favorite for Gatton—by four miles to Bremen—is philanthropist.

✓ The Gatton School at Western ranks best of its kind in America.

✓ Donated three-quarters of a million dollars in 1970s to establish a tutorial program for UK student-athletes.

✓ Millions of dollars to College of Business and Economics at UK.

✓ Millions more for College of Pharmacy at East Tennessee State.

✓ Last week, a $20 million donation to expand UK's Student Center.

With it all, Bill Gatton said in a Lexington Herald-Leader interview last week his boyhood dream back in Bremen was like one many of us had growing up. "I'd have been an All-American player at Kentucky."

Gets better.

Asked in recent years to donate money for Rupp Arena renovation by big spenders ("we gotta be better than Louisville's Yum Center), with go-along-to-get-along UK director Mitch Barnhart in the front rank, Gatton said NO.

No! Why not? From his bully pulpit, Philanthropist Gatton uttered a Gold Standard mouthful from Big Blue Nation's main constituents that, in subtle truth, repudiates what Barnhart and John Calipari stand for. "Because," he said, "it sends the wrong message to core fans who have built the tradition of Kentucky basketball for years and years and years.

"It looks like they're doing something for the rich folks and not for core fans who have supported and made the reputation of Kentucky basketball."

Heroic.

1. "... tradition of Kentucky basketball for years and years," puts Calipari squarely where he belongs, John-Come-Lately. Legacy won't be NCAA banners, but father of one-and-done-ism.

2. "...core fans have supported and made the reputation of Kentucky basketball," is a volley for gold standard Barnhart who doesn't see that core fans are not always those who travel to New York, Hawaii and the Bahamas, but are always Kentuckians who hold to the notion winning games with junior and senior student-athletes are important too.

Bill Gatton would've been one of those. And, because of who the Man from Bremen has become, Gatton is a University of Kentucky All-American. He ought have a jersey hanging in Rupp Arena next to Cawood Ledford.

PRETTY WORK IS NOW ROAD WORK

Last week UK, UofL and WKU (in part) was Pretty Work. This week: Road Work.

Here come the dragons.

The fun of dispensing dazle verbiage on Louisville's new offense, Kentucky's new-agers and Western new high hopes via new coach, give way to going on the road.

✓ Louisville. The top 25-ranked Cardinals, having put a Bob Petrino-brand 66-spot on Murray State, play at Virginia (1-1). The Cavaliers should be victim two in a four game set as UofL marches toward Clemson October 11.

✓ Western Kentucky's familiar coulda-woulda-shoulda conversation starring Illinois, gives way to turn-the-page and renewal of a delicious rivalry in the land, Middle Tennessee (1-1).

Both coming off heart bruising losses to Big Ten teams, the Blue Raiders and Hilltoppers saddle up wearing Conference USA logos, but the same tough feelings remain dating to days in the OVC.

✓ Eastern Kentucky. Off to two-and-oh start, the Colonels are at home to rival Morehead State this week, but the more promising news has road work written on it. By time the Colonels head to Eastern Illinois October 11, odds are improving coach Dean Hood's team will be 5-0.

Kentucky owns the nation's seventh hardest schedule and this week is dream crash or dream catcher for the blue team in Gainesville. The usual credential is attached. UK is a severe underdog. But Mark Stoops' team gets what every feisty upstart plays for, a shot. This one comes with national television via SEC Network. Opportunity: To win ... to recruit ... to change landscape. Florida? Coach-under-fire Will Muschamp let his Gators make Eastern Michigan their Hors d'oeuvre last week, 65-0. The smash was as much about cooling the hot breath of Gator fan base than it was showing off an offense.

Florida will be determined to do same to Kentucky ahead of its first road work next week at Alabama.

Kentucky? If the Wildcats take away respectability in Gainesville only, then the glass is still half full. As many as Jarrold Woods placed 54th in 14:36.0, and Nicholas Cummins placed 56th in 14:36.8. Brandon Dice placed 81st in 15:41.3, Carson King placed 84th in 15:48.3, Nathan Jefferson placed 101st in 17:03.8, and Matthew Dice placed 120th at 19:42.2.

The teams will attend the Mason County All Comers on Tuesday evening, September 9th followed by the Mason County Invitational on Saturday, September 13th. The runners are congratulated for their performance and wished well in their upcoming meets.

five opponents to come, four at Commonwealth Stadium, look ... beatable.

WORTH REPEATING DEPARTMENT

From the New York Times: "Yes, it has all been unfair to the big time college athletes who appear on television and make so much money for their institutions. Clearly.

But what is the purpose of higher education? Earning? Or learning?"

And so it goes.

National Preparedness Month

Provided by: Neider Reynolds, Coordinator
Bracken County Emergency Management

September is National Preparedness Month. Across the United States, your local Emergency Management Office will promote and support these emergency preparedness efforts and encourages all Americans to take action.

You can join the efforts by following four steps:

1. Build a Kit
2. Make a Plan
3. Stay Informed
4. Get Involved

Get an Emergency Kit

- An emergency kit includes the basics for survival: fresh water, food, clean air and warmth. You should have enough supplies to maintain your family’s comfort for at least three days or throughout an extended power outage. Ask your Local Emergency Management Office for a list of items recommended for a disaster supply kit.

Make an Emergency Plan

- Make plans with your family and friends in case

you’re not together during an emergency. Discuss how you’ll contact each other, where you’ll meet and what you’ll do in different situations. Ask about planning at your workplace and your child’s school or daycare center.

Be informed - Being prepared means staying informed. Check all types of media - web sites, newspapers, radio, TV, mobile and land phones - for global, national and local information. During an emergency, your local emergency Management or Emergency Services offices will give you information on such things as open shelters and evacuation orders.

Get involved - Look into taking first aid. Get emergency response training and learn how to participate in community exercises, and volunteer to support your community’s first responders.

Deadline to register to vote in General Election is October 6

The deadline for eligible Kentuckians to register to vote in the upcoming November 4 General Election is Monday, October 6.

County clerks’ offices throughout Kentucky will accept voter registration cards until the close of business on that date. Mail-in voter registration applications must be postmarked by October 6.

Under the Military Heroes Voting Initiative qualified military and overseas voters may now register to vote and update their registration information electronically through the State Board of Elections’ new Federal Post Card Application Wizard. The Wizard, along with other resources for military and overseas voters, is available at www.elect.ky.gov. Applications submitted electronically must be received by the county clerk by close of business on October 6.

To be eligible to vote, you must:

- Be a U.S. citizen,
- Be a Kentucky resident for at least 28 days before Election day,
- Be at least 18 years old by the date of the next general election,
- Not be a convicted felon, or if convicted of a felony offense, must have obtained a restoration of civil rights,
- Not have been adjudged “mentally incompetent,” and
- Not claim the right to vote anywhere outside Kentucky.
- Voters who have recently moved need to update their voter registration information by no later than October 6, 2014. Pursuant to KRS 116.025(6), individuals who move from one county to another county while the voter registration books are open and fail to update their registration information before the voter registration books close are not permitted to vote in the election.

• Under the Secretary of State’s recently established Address Confidentiality Program, victims of domestic violence and sexual assault can register and update their registration while keeping their names and addresses out of publicly available voter records.

You can check your current registration status on the Voter Information Center, <https://cdcbp.ky.gov/VIC-Web/index.jsp>. To obtain a registration card or for more information about registering to vote, visit www.elect.ky.gov or contact your county clerk or the State Board of Elections at (502) 573-7100.
